The speculation yesterday on 'Change was rather feverish, local sentiment being unsettled by the nonreflection in London prices, at the outset, of the strength that had marked Tuesday's closing here. Foreign selling was a further depressing factor. The volume of business was slightly below Tuesday's record, but the transactions were fairly well distributed, the grangers and Louisville & Nashville being most extensively dealt in of the list. The course of prices was irregular, with the fluctuations extending to a full point in a number of shares, including Sugar, the grangers, Louisville & Nashville and Missouri Pacific. A lower range of exchange rates and the declaration of the regular Vanderbilt dividends and publication of the traffic returns of the various roads included served to nullify the effect of a moderate engagement of gold for shipment to Germany to-day. SUMMERTIME RECREATION. Some Suggestions from a Man Who

Has Tried Many Kinds. Maurice Thompson, in The Independent. My observation has convinced me that learly every person who undertakes athetic exercises greatly overdoes his work, or performs it spasmodically and without any appreciation of physiological require-ments. Strangely enough, this is generally true of men and women of greatest intelli-gence; indeed, it would be safe to say that the larger the intellectual capacity and attainment the greater the ignorance of calisthentic or gymnastic needs and the safe road by which to reach them. I have conversed with many physicians who of the correlation between nervous exhaustion and muscular atrophy. "Take exercise," they will say, and no more; not explaining that, before exercise can be safely indulged in, it is necessary to rest the nerves. Muscular exertion sets the ungs to panting, the heart to pumping, nerve centers to sending out waves of force. Death, instead of life, may be the result; but take exercise. You may safely take it for granted that 'recreation," just at present, means bicycling; there is no room for it to mean anything else. The average human being has a wheel in the brain, what time he or she is not astride of one. Very good. I ride a wheel in summer and find it excellent exereise; but great care is necessary to prevent more harm than benefit in the case of the brain-working laborer. Long sedentary oc-cupation, the chair hindering proper circuation of blood and nerve-fluid through the legs, renders one unfit for bicycling. Before mounting you should be sure that circulation is restored; at all events, I find it proper in my case. I have tried almost every athletic exercise and outdoor recreative play. None is of any value when I fail to follow closely the rule of "rest before passing from brainwork to physical " and vice versa. For many reasons well-known to every competent physiolo-gist, bicycling demands close adherence to

Thanks to fine country roads radiating in every direction from my summer home. there is not much very hard work for the bicycler hereabout; but even level and smooth highways give plenty of exercise, and a few steep hills offer climbers chance to puff and blow. For myself I ride for pleasure, not for glory and heart disease, Moreover, I cannot permit the bicycle to shove my bow aside, nor my flyrod, nor my walking shoes, nor any other gear in which I have always found pleasure. Alternation is the spice of sports. I hear and read much of vacations; personally I am not acquainted with them. Outings I take at every opportunity; but never a vacation. I work every day, win-ter and summer, no matter where I am: and I play every day. If I slip away furtively to a lonely wood for a week or so with archery, my writing materials go there, too; and each day sees its studies made, its notes, its sketches, its finished work for whatever demand is most pressing. If I go South in winter, my work goes on the same train, and returns with neither value nor interest, save to the extent that it suggests a wholesome prac-When the question is asked, How shall work be done with the least friction and largest output? the answer is, By keeping fresh. But freshness come of constant recreation, just as renewal of the blood comes of constant breathing. Put back what you expend: in other words, treat your brain and your muscles precisely as

ALL MARKETS ADVANCED

REPUBLICAN GOLD PLATFORM IN-FLUENCES GRAIN PRICES.

This Is Backed Up with Discouraging Crop Reports and Heavy Clearances from Seaboard.

CHICAGO, June 17 .- Bad crop reports and the probable action of the St. Louis convention were both influential factors in wheat to-day, the price for July advancing 1%c over the final figures of yesterday. All the other markets showed strength. Corn and oats advanced %@4e and provisions 5c. There was not a great deal doing early in the day in wheat, trading being small, but there were periods when fair activity was manifested, the range for the session being 1%@1%c. The market opened firm, and continued on the advance all the forenoon, four hours ending at 5 p. m., June 17, 1896, as | with a short interval of exception. The report of bad outlook for crop in Indiana, declining condition of spring wheat in the Northwest and heavy clearances of wheat and flour from the seaboard were other features. The heavy exports of yesterday, over 450,000 bushels of wheat and flour, were a surpirse to the bulls and bears and did much to keep the market going after it had once got fairly started. The short interest was on the anxious seat, and there was active dealing, but there was so little for sale that prices had to be bid up in order to bring it out. Undoubtedly, however, the probable action of the St. Louis convention, in adhering to the gold standard, has quite as much to do with the strength developed as anything else. The weak teature of the day's news was the heaviness in the Northwestern receipts, Minneapolis and Duluth received 509 cars, compared there with 354 cars a week ago, and only 114 carloads on the coresponding day of last year. July opened 140 4c higher, at 57% 0571/2c, and, after selling momentarily at 5714c, sold up irregularly to 5814c, and reacted in realizing to 5814c. Five minutes before the close of the session those who had sold calls got thoroughly alarmed at the persistent firmness of the market and the price went up to 58%c on July and 59%c on September, and those were the current prices when the closing bell sounded.

> a disposition to cover among shorts, under which prices advanced slightly, the closing being at the top figure of the day. July opened a shade higher at 284c, sold up to 285c, and closed steady at that price. Oats were stronger, mainly in sympathy with wheat. Trading early was extremely quiet, but the demand improved later, and prices were well maintained. July opened unchanged at 174@17%c, sold to 17½c, being

Provisions were quiet. The opening was stronger, owing to the moderate hog supstronger, owing to the moderate hog supstronger, owing to the moderate hog supstronger, owing to the moderate hog supstronger. ply. A moderate demand prevailed and prices advanced slightly, but at the advance there was no pressure to sell, and prices receded, the closing being tame. July pork closed 5c higher at $7.20; July lard .05c higher, at 4.25c; July ribs, .05c higher, at 3c.

NINETEENTH-CENTURY ASSASSINS. More than a Dozen Rulers Have Been Slain Since Paul of Russia.

New York Journal. Since the beginning of the present cen-tury many rulers of nations of the old and Political intrigue, jealousy, abuse of power, and the ever-present feeling of discontent among the people have been the incentives for assassins who have succeeded in removing by violence such a large number of rulers. The character of the assassins ranged from those in the lowest walks of life to the nobility.

The first assassination of the century was that of Emperor Paul of Russia, in 1801. Upon the death of Catherine, in 1796, Paul ascended he throne in the early part of the Fren in revolution. He had no knowledge of how to rule, having been in reality a royal prisoner, as far as court knowledge and customs were concerned. By his injustice and lack of judgment, he arouse the discontent of his subjects and wounder the pride of his officers. On the night of March 24, 1801, a party of his generals entered the palace and strangled him in his bedroom with a sash. Turkey was the scene of the next assas sination. May, 1807, Sultan Selim III was deposed by the Janissaries, who enthrone Abdul Hamid, his son. Pasha Bairacta attempted to restore Selim III, but, by order of his son, the deposed ruler was strangled on July 28, 1808, in the cell where he was confined. Then passed twentythree years before the next ruler was sac-rificed. President Capo d'Istria, of Greece was unpopular with his chiefs, owing to their jealousy and because of his attach ment to Russian interests. They accuse him of violating the principles of the con-stitution. The imprisonment by the Presi-dent of Mauromichalli, the Bey of Mamote, led to his assassination by George, of son, and Constantine, the brother of

The earliest assassination on this side of the Atlantic was that of Dessalines, who was chosen life governor of Hayti, and assumed the fantastic title of Emperor of Hayti. He was assassinated in 1806. In 1854 another ruler of Hayti met death at the hands of an assassin.

Abdul Aziz, the most enlightened ruler of Turkey, suffered in 1876 a not unusual fate of Eastern potentates. He was bled to death in a bath by his royal attendants.

Colonel Balta, President of Peru, was imprisoned by Guiterrez, his Minister of War, during a revolt. Guiterrez made himself a dictator and ordered Balta shot. He was executed July 22, 1872.

In 1872 President Moreno, of Ecuador, was shot, and the next year his successor, Guiterrez, and the next year his successor.

Guiterrez, suffered a similar fate. Four Deys of Algiers have been shot during the present century. Alexander II of Russia was blown up by a dynamite bomb thrown by Nihilists at his carriage as he was returning from a military review. The Queen of Corea was assasinated soon after the close of the recent Chinese-Japanese war. Murat, who was made a monarch by Napoleon, and Iturbide were both shot. President Carnot, of France, was stabbed by a fanatic while seated in his carriage at he festivities at Lyons. The first assassination of a President of the United States was that of Abraham Lincoln, at Ford's Theater. Washington, April 14, 1865, by John Wilkes Booth. President James A. Garfield was shot by Charles Guiteau in 1881, while in a railroad station at Washington. The assassination of the Shah of Persia a few weeks ago by a fanatic dressed as a woman in the court of a temple just outside the royal capital is the last of the long list.

—A minority of the members of a church do not cease to be members by the act of the majority in expelling them when the majority have departed from the lines of faith declared in the articles of faith adopted at the foundation of the church. 2. Property conveyed to trustees for the use of a church by its denominational name creates a trust for the promulgation of the tenets and doctrines of that detion of the tenets and doctrines of that denomination. 3. A majority of a divided church cannot repudiate the original faith as adopted at the foundation of such church and hold the property belonging to the church to the exclusion of the minority who adhere to the original doctrine.

Petition for rehearing overruled. tor to pay the claims of an estate in the order designated by the statute, and if the estate is not able to pay all the claims those having a preference should be paid, and if any are not paid it must be those in the inferior class; and if an administrator pays any claim out of its order he takes the risk of having to account to the estate in the event such payment results in injury to the estate or a creditor. 1623. Kniss vs. Holbrook. Noble C. C. Af firmed. Gavin, J.-1. A note given for a pat-ent right without having the words inserted showing that fact is voidable and not void. 2. A person, by his representa-tions to the purchaser of a note, may be estopped from denying the defenses there-to. 3. Where the same facts are alleged in two paragraphs of answer, and the evi-dence admissable under one can be given under the other, a demurrer to one of the paragraphs will be harmless.
